the ARCHI COLLECTION

The Architect Lamp captures the perfect balance. It's a design statement, and yet also a practical item. The arm bends and flexes to make this the ultimate lamp for desks, reading, and work. You can adjust it precisely to meet your needs, concentrating the light in the exact place where you need it. The on/off button on the head of the lamp makes it simple and user-friendly. It's a no-nonsense design. But it's so much more than just a desk lamp.

The Architect Lamp from the ARCHI collection by NORDIC LIVING has been given an updated and modern look. It comes in beautiful Nordic colours and features details that emphasise its functional elements. While the lamp retains its industrial look, it's now softer and more decorative. You can use it in your entryway, the kitchen, as a bedside lamp, in children's rooms... everywhere, in a word — and in new contexts. Clamped or free-standing on a table, on a wall, alone or in a row. Perhaps a desk model and a wall model together, creating a visual link in the space. ARCHI is the perfect all-around lamp. Simple, reliable and robust, yet also light, sculptural and sophisticated.

The ARCHI lamp's eight colour variations bring new life to this iconic design and give the lamp a distinctly Nordic touch. No matter the style, ARCHI can blend in or create dynamic contrast in any space. The colours are a perfect fit for Nordic homes, and the collection gives you the option to choose from both cool and warm hues to match most natural colours and materials. Tone it up or down to create your desired atmosphere and look. Graphic black, exclusive brass, classic grey or white — or how about the more poetic Forest Green, Sea Blue, or Maple Red? The surfaces are silky-smooth, matte, and sensuous, no matter the colour.

The ARCHI collection is available in three models. ARCHI W1 is a wall lamp and includes mounting hardware. ARCHI T1 junior and T2 are desk lamps. A desk clamp is included. The desk base and mounting hardware, sold separately, allow these lamps to stand on their own or be mounted on a wall.

A design classic

It's the epitome of a classic. A study in style. And architects aren't the only ones that love it, either! The Architect Lamp is one of the world's most iconic and recognisable lamps, and it's a great choice for anyone looking for both form and function — aesthetics and great lighting.

So, why is it called the Architect Lamp anyway? It's because major architects like Le Corbusier loved this solid, highly functional lamp, making it so widespread that it eventually earned its nickname. The first architect lamp was designed in France, in the early 1920s — more than 100 years ago. The lamp's flexible arm and ball joint made it a revolutionary invention, and in the years that followed, it made its way into offices, sewing shops, operating rooms, and laboratories where there was a need for flexible, concentrated working light. In the 1930s, the ball joint was replaced with a spring-based mechanism, and the design was further refined after that. Soon enough, the lamp was taking its rightful place in studies and especially children's rooms in the home. Upgrades and new versions were designed over the years, but the original idea lived on. In other words, this lamp is timeless.
